Useful microorganisms, probiotics, without which life on our planet would not be possible, live on earth , in water and in air all around the world.

In ideal conditions, beneficial bacteria in the atmosphere should be 90%, and dangerous microorganisms should be only 10%

But in modern cities as well as mega cities , in apartments and offices, schools and clinics, mosques & churches the balance is upset. The number of pathogens that causes diseases and even epidemics rises to 30%.Due to the large number of people, nature simply does not have time to process pathogenic bacteria on its own.

The Man has sought for long time to find natural ways to restore a healthy, clean atmosphere that would be borrowed from nature itself. Until recently, the main difficulty in creating such products was the lack of necessary knowledge and advanced technological capabilities.

To date, the only unique technology for the production of material and products with a high content of beneficial microorganisms has been developed and has successfully entered to our lives by INVISIBLUS Home & Office Mister.
